

World-Class Professional Development Courses that Empower Healthcare Practitioners

Accredited, online continuing professional development to keep healthcare practitioners armed with the latest evidence and protocols.

Our Story

MDBriefCase is an industry leader in delivering accredited, online continuing professional development (CPD) to help healthcare practitioners enhance their professional practice and stay at the forefront of the latest evidence and protocols.

Through innovative partnerships, we offer high-quality content to more than 280,000 members in Canada, Australia, Africa and the Middle East.

With more than 20 years of leadership in online CME/CPD, we have successfully adapted our model to reach rapidly expanding audiences globally. We do this by working with local partners and institutions to tailor accredited content to the educational needs of healthcare practitioners.

As medical research continuously advances, so do our programs. Informed by feedback from our members, our content is developed by leading specialists and peer-reviewed by experts at respected institutions. These collaborative relationships allow us to produce custom educational content.
